Trends in Integrated Reporting that Support Sustainable Growth in Japan 2024

In 2024, the number of organizations that issue integrated reports increased further, to 1,177. This number includes 1,090 listed companies, making 2024 the first year that over 1,000 listed companies issued reports. Although the majority of these companies are listed on the Prime Market segment, the number of those listed on the Standard and Growth Market segments is on a gradual rise, meaning that the range of reporting companies is also expanding.

The year 2024 also marks the 10th anniversary of the first Ito Review, which shed light on the challenges facing Japan's capital market. In light of this milestone, the Ministry of Economy, Trade and Industry held a roundtable conference to check on progress made toward the issues and recommendations pointed out in the report. This interim report acknowledged progress in corporate disclosure, with many positive comments made in particular about the enhancement of voluntary disclosure, which included integrated reports. Although integrated reports are optional, many Japanese companies produce them. Taking on this endeavor has confirmed benefits. For example, these reports encourage engagement with investors, establishing a feedback cycle. In addition, the process of producing these reports helps break down internal silos within a company.

In recent years, it has become mandatory in Japan to include sustainability information in securities reports, a response to the advancement of mandatory sustainability disclosure around the world. Accordingly, SSBJ standards, which roughly correspond to global ISSB standards, will be applied to sustainability-related disclosures in securities reports. Seeing this trend, a few companies have begun to retool their reporting structure, a process that includes reviewing the role and position of integrated reports. As part of these efforts, we are now seeing cases in which companies are trying to slim down their reports to make them better tools for engagement, as opposed to the previous practice of adding pages to expand the information contained within. Since their inception, integrated reports have continued to serve as one of the main instruments for engagement between companies and investors, but each company faces its own unique mix of challenges.

This survey, which lists companies that issue reports and highlights some notable trends, is meant to be utilized by a wide range of stakeholders, including institutional investors, auditing firms, government ministries and agencies, and academia. We will continue to conduct surveys like this in the future and contribute to the development of integrated reporting alongside other forms of corporate reporting.

Corporate Value Reporting Lab

List of Organizations in Japan Engaged in the Publication of Self-Declared Integrated Reports (2024)

As of December 31, 2024

Self-declared integrated reports are categorized as such by the Corporate Value Reporting Lab under two conditions: when a report states that it is an integrated report in its editorial policy or elsewhere or when a report contains comprehensive financial and non-financial information as well as reporting on corporate value creation and other matters that reflect deliberate integrated reporting.

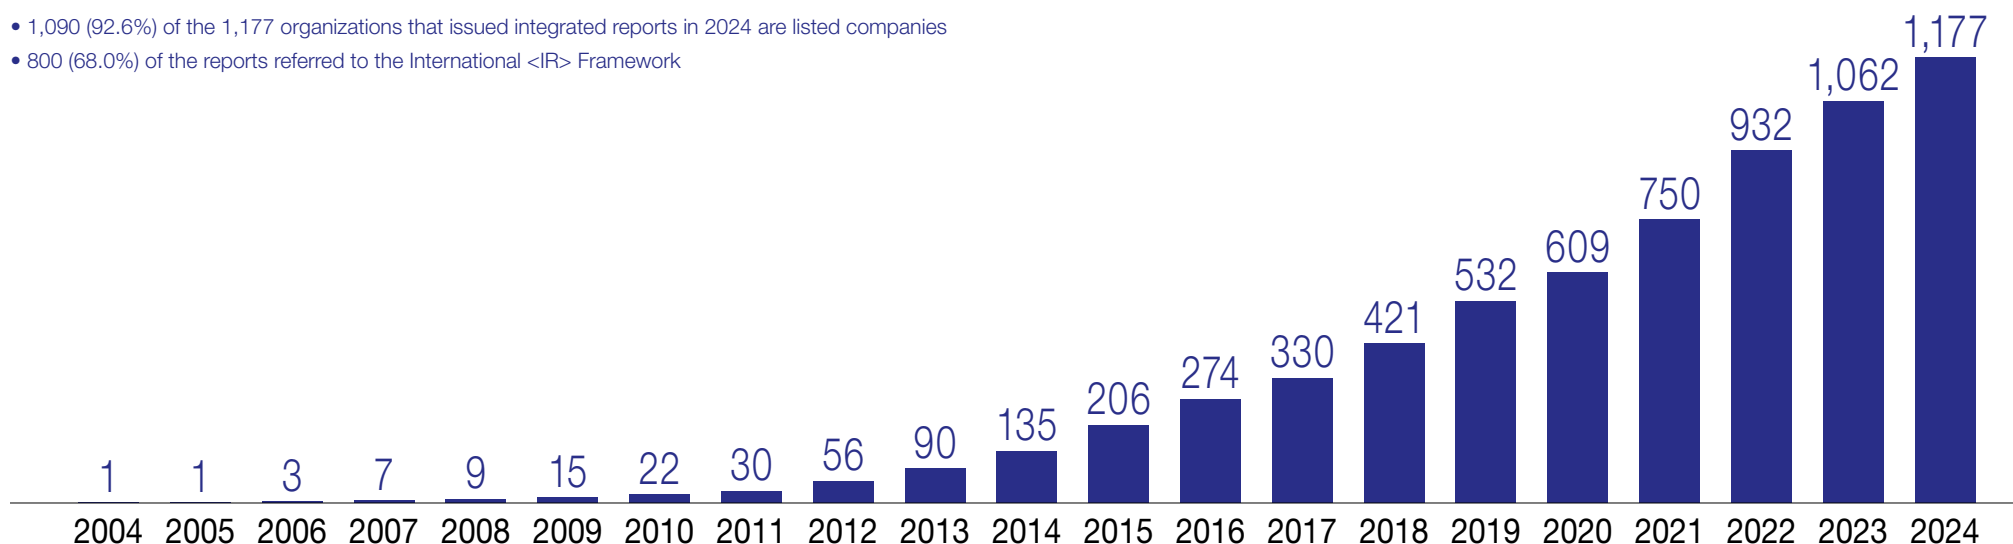

The Excel data for this survey (related to issuance by each company over time) is available only to institutional investors and those using the data for research purposes. Those interested in receiving this data should contact the address listed at the end of this document.

Note: The Corporate Value Reporting Lab replaced the ESG Communication Forum in October 2015.

Trend in the Number of Organizations in Japan Engaged in the Publication of Self-Declared Integrated Reports

Data for Reference

- 1,090 (92.6%) of the 1,177 organizations that issued integrated reports in 2024 are listed companies
- 800 (68.0%) of the reports referred to the International <IR> Framework

Note: When a report states in its editorial policy or elsewhere that it is an integrated report, or if a report contains comprehensive financial and non-financial information while also containing language that implies that the report was prepared with considerations made for integrated reporting (pertaining to corporate value creation or otherwise), the report is counted as a self-declared integrated report.

Survey based on listed companies, with non-listed companies and other corporations and entities included. In principle, this survey counts the number of organizations that published a report for each calendar year based on the date of publication and covers reports published annually. Should we receive no negative criticism regarding this method, we will continue to employ it going forward. Specification of the year that a company switched to integrated reporting is based on this method. If two reports were published during the survey period, only the most recent version is listed in the list of report names.
